MAYOR OF LONDON

Transport for London

Think you know about Mystery Travellers?

Things are changing. London Buses are now measuring manners as well as mileage.

This book tells you how and why. Mystery Travellers will be assessing drivers, and this book gives you all the information you need to get full marks. You will find the essentials upfront, supported by a lot more detail and some useful tips on dealing with tricky situations.

OUR NEW CONTRACTS

There are more Mystery Travellers than ever before and the things they are looking for have changed.

London Buses' contracts now aim to improve customer service as well as reliability. Under the new scheme, Mystery Travellers will check whether bus drivers are polite and helpful to passengers.

- Being polite to passengers
- Driving smoothly
- Checking tickets
- Maintaining headway

London Buses will check for all these things – and more.

The Driving Standards Agency reports that the quality of driving across the network has improved by 66% since 2003.

Now we're looking for the same commitment and professionalism applied to customer service.

This is what Mystery Travellers want to see:

As your bus approaches:

All the blinds on your bus are set correctly and easy to read. (Mystery Travellers look for route number, destination, and, if it's dark, whether the blinds are lit up.)

Your dashboard is clean and clear, with no rubbish, bags or newspapers.

You pull up to pick up passengers. It doesn't matter what kind of stop or if the passengers put their hands out – if there's someone waiting to board, the Mystery Traveller expects you to stop.

As your bus reaches the stop:

You pull up near the stop, close enough for passengers to board from the pavement. (If you can't because the bus stop's blocked, you won't lose marks.)

You make sure all the passengers who were waiting have got on the bus before you move off.

On board

You're smartly dressed in uniform. If your route has iBus, it's working. You don't use a mobile phone or listen to headphones or a radio.

GET FULL MARKS FROM THE MYSTERY TRAVELLER

Checking tickets

7 If the Mystery Traveller is paying by cash you issue a ticket and give the right change. If you're shown a printed ticket, you check it. (If you can't for a good reason, for example you're answering another passenger's query, they won't subtract marks.)

8 If an Oyster card is used, make sure you're paying attention – not just looking out of the window as if it didn't matter.

Asking questions

9 The Mystery Traveller may ask you a straightforward question such as "Where does this bus go to?" or "Do you go past a tube station?" – you answer in a friendly, helpful way.

Driving smoothly

10 You don't move off until everyone has paid or shown a pass. All passengers have time to get to a seat or hold on safely before you move off. The doors are closed before you move off. The drive is smooth and comfortable.

GET FULL MARKS FROM THE MYSTERY TRAVELLER

During the journey

11

You don't chat to anyone while driving. Handle any problems with tact and patience. (Mystery Travellers know that passengers can create problems that aren't your fault, but if you deal with it professionally, they make a note.) Never leave the bus unattended.

If the bus is diverted or turned

You tell passengers what's going on. If your bus has a Public Address (PA) system, you use it to keep passengers informed.

Getting off the bus

You pull up close enough to the kerb so all passengers can step from the bus directly on to the pavement. (If you can't because the bus stop is blocked, they won't subtract marks.)

What you need to know

Bus drivers have a lot to deal with and remember, and we don't expect you to know every landmark or McDonald's on your route. But there are some things you do need to know:

- The main areas you pass through
- The Tube, National Rail, Docklands Light Railway stations, bus stations and tram stops

To see what this means for your route, please see page 110.

And things you don't need to know:

- Every stop name
- Every tourist attraction or place of interest on your route

Of course, many of you already know a lot of details about your route and can answer any passenger query. In which case – keep up the good work.

HOW TO GET RESPECT FROM YOUR PASSENGERS

The best way to get your passengers' respect is to be seriously good at what you do. That means being polite and helpful as well as a skilled driver.

But as we aren't out there every day dealing with the most difficult passengers, we asked the advice of some of London's bus drivers. Here are their top tips.

“I turn round a bit in my seat so I’m facing them as they get on – and say hello. Confident, upright body language is important too. Sitting slumped over the wheel as passengers come on doesn’t give a very good impression.”

London United Transdev driver

Body language

Remember, you help create the atmosphere on the bus. When passengers get on-board, your attitude says it all:

1. Make eye contact when passengers talk to you
2. Present a friendly face
3. Stay alert and upright

“If you’re uptight or seem nervous, passengers will pick up on that immediately. A smile always helps.”

Arriva London driver

Talking to passengers...

"Act confident, act positive and try and get some interaction between you and the customer. Say hello, goodbye, please and thank you – and that's half the battle. Give them a big smile and it's amazing how friendly people are back. It makes the job so much easier – and that means you drive better."

London United Transdev driver

"If you are presentable – if you're wearing a clean shirt and looking businesslike, most people coming in will take a view that you take your job seriously."

Go Ahead driver

...in language they can understand

The Public Address (PA) system is a really useful tool to help you pass on information to passengers. It also reduces hassle for you as you only have to explain things once from your cab. Here are some simple guidelines to help you make really good PA announcements.

1. Make it as short as possible
2. Speak slowly and clearly
3. Use simple language
4. Avoid jargon
5. Make it timely – so people can make decisions about their journey
6. Give guidance on what to do if there's disruption or a diversion

HOW TO GET RESPECT FROM YOUR PASSENGERS

Young people and schoolchildren

A minority of troublemakers can make the journey very unpleasant for the driver and passengers. We asked some experienced bus drivers how they handle the situation.

“Talk to them! If they know they’re not going to get away with anything, they do tend to settle down. Coming out of school, they’re like a barrelful of monkeys – all over the place. But having kids of my own – you know that kids are lively.”

London United Transdev driver

“If a group of kids get on, refuse to pay and just walk through, it takes just 30 seconds to fill in the Youth Data Form. The information goes back to the garage and the revenue section, who then mark and target the stop.”

Arriva London driver

What if?

A group of rowdy schoolchildren boards the bus and annoys other passengers.

“So many people talk down to kids and they see that straight away. Don’t patronise them – they’re just ordinary passengers like everyone else. It just happens to be that they’re younger.”

London United Transdev driver

DISABLED PASSENGERS

Disabled people want and need to travel around just like anyone else. Many rely on buses as they provide a 'turn up and go' accessible service.

There are many kinds of disabilities, most of which aren't visible. You could get passengers on board with hearing impairments, visual impairments, speech and language impairments, mental health issues, learning difficulties, mobility impairments and, of course, wheelchair users.

"Take your time and always look after the passengers – it's too late once someone has had an accident. You're there to carry people safely."

Arriva London driver

You can help by:

Pulling into the kerb as closely as possible and kneeling the bus at stops – especially busy ones. Being aware that someone might have a disability – even if you can't see it, or it's not obvious.

Asking whether they'd like to be helped – and how. Being patient – allow more time for boarding and getting off. Being ready to write things down if it makes things easier. Give people plenty of time to make decisions.

Treat ALL passengers the way you'd like to be treated yourself.

DISABLED PASSENGERS

Visual impairments

- Ask where they're going so you can let them know when you get there, or reassure them that iBus will announce their stop
- Let them know where your bus is going. Even though iBus announces the destination, it can be very reassuring to hear the bus driver confirm it
- Let a visually impaired person know where there's a seat – for example "There's a seat on your left"
- Don't turn iBus off. Many people rely on it, especially visual and hearing impaired passengers and those with learning difficulties

Visual and audio announcements on iBus make it easier for passengers with hearing and visual impairments to use the buses.

"The on-board announcements have made a big difference to me, helping me to travel more independently. I feel more confident using the buses now, as I know which route I'm on, where the bus is going and which stop to get off at."

Jim Lewis, visually impaired bus user

Assistance dogs

London's buses welcome all assistance dogs including guide dogs, hearing dogs, fetch and carry dogs and dogs that can sense when their owner is about to have an epileptic fit.

- There's no limit on the number of assistance dogs you can allow on the bus as long as there's space
- If a dog is blocking the gangway you can ask for it to be moved

DISABLED PASSENGERS

Passengers using a wheelchair

The entire bus network is now wheelchair accessible and no low-floor bus should ever leave a garage without a working ramp. Always let wheelchair users on-board if you have space and carrying capacity. Wheelchair users travel free on London's buses.

Getting the wheelchair user safely on the bus

In a bus with two or more doors, the following procedure should make journeys as easy as possible for you, the wheelchair user and other passengers.

Pull in close to the kerb.

Keep the front doors closed so the wheelchair user has space to board. Open the centre doors so passengers can get off.

Close the centre doors, so you can extend the ramp.

DISABLED PASSENGERS

Open the centre doors and allow the wheelchair user time to position themselves correctly, with their back to the backrest and their brake on. Ask where they're going so you'll be sure to pull in as best you can at their stop.

Close the centre doors and retract the ramp.

Now you can open the front doors so other passengers can board.

Letting the wheelchair user off the bus

When the wheelchair user approaches their stop they should press the blue button on the handrail next to the wheelchair space. This will sound different to the passenger bell and a light will appear on your dashboard.

Then you use the same procedure as for boarding:

Pull in close to the kerb.

Open the centre doors, but keep the front doors closed so the wheelchair user has space to leave before you let new passengers on.

Close the centre doors, so you can extend the ramp.

DISABLED PASSENGERS

Open the centre doors and give the wheelchair user time to leave the bus.

Close the centre doors and retract the ramp.

Finally, open the front doors for waiting passengers.

“For me, travelling on buses is great because if everything is done properly a bus is one of the few places in London where I can feel truly equal. Buses give me the freedom to be spontaneous and the independence to explore every part of London.”

Zara Todd, wheelchair user

London has the biggest accessible bus network in the world.

There are 1.1 million disabled Londoners and all our bus routes are wheelchair accessible.

What if...?

...the passenger has a motorised scooter

Most wheelchairs, including motorised types, will fit on to buses without a problem. But some motorised scooters (those with handlebars) can't be carried if the wheelchair space is too small to take them, so you may have to explain why it's not possible for them to board your bus.

...the wheelchair space is occupied

If the wheelchair space is being used by other passengers you should ask them to move. Ask people with buggies to fold them. Remember that the designated wheelchair space is the only safe place wheelchair users can travel on the bus, so be prepared to explain this if necessary.

...the wheelchair ramp breaks while I'm in service

If the ramp won't work after you've left the garage, the bus can be kept in service but you must contact your garage immediately so they can sort the problem out quickly.

...the ramp fails after the wheelchair user has boarded

Sometimes it helps to reposition the bus and try again, as the ramp may be blocked by the pavement or something on it. If you've been trained to use the equipment to operate the ramp manually and think it's safe to do so, then you can. If not, contact the garage for advice and help. Some wheelchair users may decide to try and leave the bus without the use of the ramp – you should not encourage or help with this.

TRICKY SITUATIONS

As the driver, you lead the way.
The mood on the bus starts with you.

A helpful but firm professional at the wheel and a safe, smooth ride go a long way towards keeping passengers happy – and stopping trouble before it starts.

When there is a problem,
we expect you to keep your cool and be polite and professional – even when provoked.

“You need a lot of patience – if you get hot under the collar you’ll cause accidents, whether with other road users, or passengers on your bus.”

London United Transdev driver

✓ What can and can't you allow on board?
Say yes to:

Guide dogs and other assistance dogs – you must allow them on board.

Other dogs and ‘inoffensive’ animals – but only if you’re happy that the animal isn’t dangerous or likely to upset other passengers.

Oxygen cylinders – which passengers may be transporting for medical purposes.

Remember animals travel free.

TRICKY SITUATIONS

X You should say no to:

Open bottles or cans of alcohol.

Open containers or those leaking fluid.

Anything hazardous or inflammable, such as petrol cans.

Extremely bulky items of luggage. Items more than two-metres long. Anything one passenger can't carry by themselves. Anything likely to cause injury or offence.

Use your discretion, but always apologise and politely explain why you can't allow something on-board.

TRICKY SITUATIONS

Buggies and wheelchairs

Don't let buggies bug you!

We know that managing buggies can be a problem at busy times, but how you deal with them is down to your own judgement and experience.

When there's more than one buggy

Allow as many as you think is safe. There's no fixed number of buggies allowed because each situation's different – it depends on the size of the buggies and how full your bus is. Only ask passengers to fold their buggy if it will cause an obstruction to other passengers.

Dealing with double buggies

Passengers with double buggies can board by the centre doors, as it's too difficult for them to get on at the front. Passengers must ask your permission first and show you their ticket/pass or touch their Oyster card on the reader. Single buggies must board by the front door only.

What if...?

...a passenger refuses to move to make way for a wheelchair user

- Use the PA, or iBus automated announcement, to explain that the wheelchair bay is the only safe place for wheelchair users to travel
- If the other passengers won't move, you can't make them
- Politely explain the situation to the wheelchair user and advise them to wait for the next bus
- If the bus is full, you won't be able to take the wheelchair user on-board, as nobody already on the bus should be asked to leave

...a passenger refuses to fold down their buggy

- Only ask people to fold buggies when they're causing an obstruction, or a wheelchair user needs the space
- If they refuse you can't make them or ask them to get off the bus
- You can politely advise passengers with buggies that they may have to fold them during the journey

TRICKY SITUATIONS

Diversions and breakdowns

Whether it's diversions, disruption or a broken down bus, you need to get your passengers on their way as soon as possible.

"I try to explain – but keep it simple. If you don't take the time to do this, you're setting yourself up for problems down the line with people getting angry and not knowing what's going on."

Go Ahead driver

What if...?

...there's a diversion or disruption

Check in the garage for any pre-planned diversions at the start of your duty. Let your passengers know, by PA if possible, if you're taking a different route. On diversions, serve all bus stops.

...the bus breaks down or is turned

Apologise and tell passengers you'll help them on their way as soon as possible. If you have passengers who have paid cash or who have used a 'pay as you go' Oyster card, explain that they can transfer onto any other London bus service going the same way, but that you will need to give a transfer ticket to the driver. Remind 'pay as you go' users not to touch in on the second bus.

Try to make sure ALL passengers are transferred to another bus and not left stranded. Remember to give any visually or hearing impaired passengers the extra support they need.

How to issue a transfer ticket:

Issue an inspector's ticket for '9999' and give it to the driver of the bus picking up your passengers. You may have to do this with more than one bus, until all the passengers have been picked up.

TRICKY SITUATIONS

Problems with paying

There are far fewer types of tickets now and Oyster cards make things easier for everyone. Here are some typical problems you might come up against, and how to deal with them.

"I never let it grow into an argument – I think you just lose your authority."

East Thames Buses driver

What if...?

...a passenger can't or won't pay

- Don't allow them to travel. Be polite but firm
- Don't leave anyone stranded if they are vulnerable or obviously in distress – in this situation, if you have to let them travel, issue an Unpaid Fare Notice (formerly a Customer Service Form)

...a passenger presents an invalid ticket or pass

- Point out the problem and explain they need to pay a cash fare
- In a few cases, you can withdraw the pass. The only time you should withdraw a ticket or pass is if it isn't valid. For example, if it has been 'stopped', defaced, copied, is out of date, or transferred (passback)
- Barclaycard OnePulse cards are different – you must never withdraw them because they are the customer's credit card as well as their ticket
- Never withdraw a card if it has just failed. Advise the customer that they should get it replaced immediately
- If they just need more money on their Oyster card, don't withdraw the card, simply explain that they need a cash fare
- Always be polite and never accuse anyone of fraud. The passenger might not have realised their pass is out of date or out of credit

TRICKY SITUATIONS

...a passenger offers payment and you don't have enough change

- You could ask if another passenger can help with change, but you don't have to
- If another passenger can't help, let the passenger travel and issue an Unpaid Fare Notice (UFN)

...my ticket machine breaks down

You must use your emergency ticket pack. Fill in your 'reason for use' at the end of your duty.

Ask a supervisor if you are unsure or if you have any problems.

...my Oyster card reader breaks down

Report it immediately so it can be replaced quickly. If the card reader isn't working or isn't fitted, allow all passengers with Oyster cards to travel without having to pay. People without Oyster cards still need to pay or show valid travel documents in the usual way.

...a passenger's Oyster card isn't working properly

If the card isn't working, there is little you can do as a driver to solve the problem, but always be patient and polite. Ask the passenger to try again, touching their card flat on the yellow target of the reader. If it still doesn't work, use the information on the card reader display to explain what is wrong, and print it out if necessary. Passengers can get help to sort the problem out at:

- tfl.gov.uk/oyster
- Tube stations
- The Oyster helpline on 0845 330 9876

If the passenger still wants to travel they will have to pay the cash fare. In the PBYB area, passengers must buy tickets before they board.

Freedom pass holders don't have to pay if their card isn't working, as long as you have checked the expiry date and their photocard is a true likeness – except if it has been stopped.

...a passenger says their Oyster card should have more money on it

If a passenger didn't touch out with their card when they left a Tube or Docklands Light Railway station, they may have less money on their card than they expected. They should sort out this problem at the Tube station, or ring the Oyster helpline. If they don't have enough value on the card they must pay a cash fare. In the PBYB area, passengers must buy tickets off-bus, for example from an RTM.

...a passenger says the RTM is not working

If the RTM is showing a red light, it is not working. If it is practical to do so, take the passenger to the next bus stop so they can buy their ticket from another RTM. If this isn't possible, or if they've already lost their money in the RTM, issue an Unpaid Fare Notice (UFN).

...a Revenue Protection Inspector (RPI) gets on my bus

If you think someone may have been trying to avoid paying a fare, but you weren't able to challenge them for any reason, let the RPI know when he/she gets on the bus.

...I issue a ticket but the passenger changes their mind about travelling on my bus

If you cannot cancel the ticket, the ticket must not be sold later on. You must put a cross on the front of the ticket and hand it in to your garage at the end of your duty.

...a passenger wants to know where to buy tickets and Oyster cards, or where to get a refund

Advise them to ask at:

- Oyster Ticket Stops
- Tube stations
- London Travel Information Centres

They can also:

- Visit TfL's website - tfl.gov.uk
- Call 24-hour travel information - 020 7222 1234
- Call the Oyster helpline - 0845 330 9876

TRICKY SITUATIONS

Passengers can get the “Your guide to fares and tickets” booklet, which includes details about tickets and their availability, at Oyster Ticket Stops, London Travel Information Centres and at most bus and Tube stations.

...a teenager claims free travel without an Oyster photocard

- Explain that they must touch their Oyster photocard on the reader to get free travel
- If they don't have a valid ticket or Oyster card, ask them to pay an adult cash fare
- If they refuse to pay, you can refuse to take them
- Use your common sense and don't leave lone children stranded if they are in a vulnerable position or in obvious distress – issue a UFN
- If there are too many kids to stop them all, use the blue Youth Data Form (YDF) to tell us where the problems are, or call Code Red if you feel unsafe

Threatening or abusive behaviour

“Keep a cool head. Sometimes the public can appear very rude – they don't mean to be, that's just their way. So overcompensate – if you're twice as nice to them, they get embarrassed and they have to be a little bit nice back!”

London United Transdev driver

TRICKY SITUATIONS

What if...?

...a passenger is annoyed about something

"I try to get to the bottom of the grievance. I give them details of how to sort it out – like telling them who to phone."

London United Transdev driver

See useful numbers on page 259.

TRICKY SITUATIONS

What if...?

...you or a passenger is in danger

- If the situation becomes, or threatens to become, highly abusive or violent, call Code Red (see page 60)
- Knowing that someone in authority is involved may be enough to send trouble-makers on their way

"It's not just about driving a bus from A to B. You are managing a complicated bit of kit, and a lot of people from different cultures – and you're under pressure. The first person you need to manage well is yourself."

Go Ahead driver

CENTRECOMM

CentreComm is London Buses' emergency command and control centre. Working side by side with the Metropolitan Police, it operates 24-hours a day, seven-days a week to monitor the bus network.

The CentreComm team supports you by:

- Handling your calls and sending help
- Letting the emergency services, Network Traffic Controllers (NTCs) and bus drivers know what's happening across the bus network
- Monitoring more than 1,400 traffic cameras across London to help buses in trouble
- Diverting buses when there's a problem
- Receiving and dealing with accident, assault, theft and vandalism reports
- Working closely with the police to share intelligence and prevent future problems by identifying trouble hotspots

CentreComm handles over 1,200 calls a day
This includes Code Red's and calls from revenue, garage officials, police, ambulance staff, train operators, London Underground and many others.

CENTRECOMM

Code Red – and when to call it

Code Red is for when you need emergency help. For example:

- You or your passengers are threatened or in danger from a violent passenger or other road-user
- A passenger is hurt or taken ill on your bus
- There's a serious disturbance on or off your bus – whether it's a fight, an argument about fares, pickpocketing or ticket fraud
- Your bus is seriously damaged, involved in an accident or broken down and causing an obstruction
- You see a serious incident that needs the emergency services
- You see someone vandalising the bus
- The road ahead is blocked or you can't continue your journey safely
- You have been told to go on diversion and aren't sure where to go

Please see page 81 for more information on how to deal with a suspicious package.

Code Blue – and when to call it

Call Code Blue when you need to report an incident that's not an emergency. For example:

- A damage-only accident where you can exchange details with the other party and continue your journey
- Your bus has broken down, but is passable by other traffic
- A bus stop or shelter has been damaged
- You find your bus has been vandalised (perhaps at the end of a route check) but the people who did it have gone

CENTRECOMM

Getting help fast

Your Code Red call will be taken by an Operations Manager at CentreComm, who is your quickest route to the emergency services.

Handle the call right, and you'll speed things up.

- Tell CentreComm briefly what's happened
- Confirm your location using streets/roads and junctions if you can. Only use landmarks if you really don't know the junction
- There may be quite a few questions. This is because CentreComm need the answers to the questions the emergency services will ask them
- Keep calm. Breathe deeply and focus hard on what you're being asked
- Don't shout instructions or give long explanations. Use short, clear sentences
- If you're cleared to go or the problem goes away, call Code Red again to cancel any call for emergency services – this will free them up to help other drivers

The Operations Manager will have three screens in front of him or her when taking your call. Screen one can call up any of 1,400 CCTV cameras all over London to see what's happening. Screen two brings up the incident log, and screen three shows iBus Code Red and Code Blue calls with a map showing your current location.

CENTRECOMM

The best way to handle it

Let's say a passenger is injured on your bus...

“One five eight on the eleven, calling Code Red, go ahead please. Over.”

“I’m in Victoria Street. Just past Francis Street. There’s an elderly woman on my bus who has fallen on the stairs. Over.”

“Is she injured? Over.”*

“Yes, her leg is bleeding and she’s confused. Over.”

“Is she conscious and breathing? Over.”

“Yes. Over.”

“What age is she? Over.”

“About seventy. Over.”

*If the incident involves a fight or other disturbance on the bus, CentreComm will ask if anyone has a weapon.

CENTRECOMM

The best way to handle it

"Thank you, police and ambulance being called to Victoria Street junction of Francis Street. Can you call us when you are clear? CentreComm out."

Time from start of call to emergency services contacted.

CENTRECOMM

X Handling it wrong

"One five eight on the eleven, calling Code Red, go ahead please. Over."

"There's a woman fallen over! Get an ambulance for me."

"You're opposite Sainsbury's on Victoria Street, junction to Francis Street? Over."

"Probably. Just send an ambulance!"

"There's a woman fallen on your bus, you are shown as being on Victoria Street, can you confirm? Over."

"I'm just opposite Sainsbury's."*

"Ok, I need more details from you. You have an elderly woman who has fallen, is she injured? Over."

"She needs an ambulance!"

*Telling CentreComm you're opposite Sainsbury's won't help. They can't see Sainsbury's on their screen map.

CENTRECOMM

X Handling it wrong

“Is she breathing and conscious? Over.”

“She just needs you to send an ambulance. Why are you asking all these questions? I should have called 999!”

“Is she bleeding? Over.”

“Yes! Just get a ****ing ambulance!”

“Is she breathing and conscious? Over.”

“Yes, but she’s not well.”

“OK, she is injured and bleeding, but she is breathing and conscious? Over.*

“I told you that! Yes!”

*The ambulance service operators need this information so they can send the help as fast as possible.

CENTRECOMM

X Handling it wrong

“Thank you, police and ambulance being called to Victoria Street junction of Francis Street. Can you call us when you are clear? CentreComm out.”

Time of start of call to emergency services contacted.

What happens next

With all the key information logged on screen, the Operations Manager will immediately contact the emergency services and give them the details they need.

Whether, or how quickly, they respond is always the decision of the emergency services themselves, based on the resources they have available and their current priorities.

Overleaf is a map of what happens immediately after CentreComm has taken your Code Red.

YOUR CALL TO CENTRECOMM

Immediate response to the incident

You call CentreComm.

CentreComm decides what action to take.

Ambulance sent if needed.

Police sent if needed.

Fire brigade sent if needed.

London Buses Network Traffic Controller sent if needed.

Your garage is told what's going on.

Any diversions are broadcast to other bus drivers and sent to real-time travel information for the public.

But it doesn't end there...

Action after the incident

This information is used by London Buses and the police to target problem areas, and decide long-term strategy.

Police and Enforcement

- Decide where to send:
- Police teams
  - Traffic Enforcement teams

Bus Enforcement

- Decide where to send:
- Individual RPIs
  - Larger teams of RPIs with police support

Schools Liaison Team

- Decide:
- Which schools to visit to talk to children about safe travel and respect for drivers
  - Which head teachers to talk to about ongoing issues at their school

Departments within London Buses

- Decide:
- Which stops and stands need attention
  - If roadside trees need cutting back
  - If anything else needs changing across the network

CENTRECOMM

The phonetic alphabet

The phonetic alphabet is used by CentreComm, the police and other emergency services to ensure details are taken down accurately. For example, it allows you to spell out a street name over the radio with no misunderstandings. You need to know it and use it.

Alpha	Juliet	Sierra
Bravo	Kilo	Tango
Charlie	Lima	Uniform
Delta	Mike	Victor
Echo	November	Whiskey
Foxtrot	Oscar	X-ray
Golf	Papa	Yankee
Hotel	Quebec	Zulu
India	Romeo

Why...?

...don't CentreComm always send the police

When you call Code Red, CentreComm always contact the police right away. But it's not down to CentreComm whether the police will come. That's why CentreComm will ask you to describe what's happened, for example, "My window has been smashed out but no one is injured." They will tell this to the police, who then decide whether or not to attend. It will depend what else is happening in London.

...can it take so long to get the police to attend

The police prioritise their calls, depending on what else is going on in London.

...shouldn't I just call 999

It's not true that you'll get help quicker if you call 999, you won't. That's because, unlike CentreComm, they don't know the bus network, and it will take them longer to find you. We may also need to send an NTC or let other bus drivers or garages know about an incident. If you call Code Red, you get a response that's right for buses.

CENTRECOMM

...should I worry about making an unofficial diversion

You must always follow the official diversion. These are checked regularly to make sure they are safe for buses. If you don't, you risk causing an accident or incident; for example, hitting a low bridge. If you aren't sure, call Code Red.

...is every Code Red important

Even if the police don't come out to your bus, every Code Red you call is mapped into an intelligence database. The information is used by police, revenue, schools liaison teams and departments throughout London Buses to identify priority areas and make best use of resources. If we don't know about it, we can't help.

Be vigilant – counter-terrorism

In today's world you must be vigilant at all times – on and off duty.

Suspicious packages

- Check the bus for unattended bags or packages:
  - before leaving your garage
  - at the end of each journey
  - and on arrival back at your garage
- Be aware of any unattended bag or package during the journey. Ask passengers if it belongs to them. If it doesn't, evacuate passengers from the bus and contact CentreComm from another bus radio at a safe distance. You can also call 999 using a landline. If you use a mobile phone make sure you are a safe distance away (50m)
- Don't try and move a suspicious package yourself

CENTRECOMM

Suspicious people

If you see a passenger acting suspiciously and you're really worried (or a passenger tips you off):

- Pull over safely (not at a bus stop)
- Evacuate passengers – tell them the bus has a problem
- Switch off the engine
- Call Code Red
- Stay at the scene to identify yourself when police arrive
- Be prepared to give a description of the suspicious person
- When you've been cleared by the police, call Code Red and let CentreComm know

If you find anything suspicious, do not use a radio or mobile phone within 50m.

A DRIVER'S GUIDE TO TICKETING

A DRIVER'S GUIDE TO TICKETING

INTRODUCTION

This guide gives you some basic information you will need to do your job. Other ticketing information you may see includes:

- Driver's Reference Guide
A laminated folding card explaining how the driver's ticket machine (ETM) works
- A complete staff guide to ticketing on London's buses
An electronic document available to your garage manager for reference, with information for staff about the full range of bus tickets and passes
- Passes and tickets accepted on the London bus network
A poster showing the full range of bus tickets and passes
- Your guide to fares and tickets
A leaflet for passengers with full details of all fares and Oyster capping rates across the Tube and DLR as well as buses

OYSTER CARDS

 Do not press the [pink] 'Pass' button for a valid Oyster card – the card reader records it for you.

Oyster fares you'll see on the card reader:

Adult (including students over 18)	90p	£1 from 2 Jan 2009
New Deal (any age) and Bus & Tram Discount Card	45p	50p from 2 Jan 2009
16 - 17	Londoners in full time education	FREE
	Other 16 & 17s	45p
11 - 15*	FREE	50p from 2 Jan 2009

* Under-11s don't need a photocard to travel free but children who look 11 or over must touch their photocard on the reader.

Hints and Tips:

- Oyster card holders must touch their Oyster card flat on the yellow card reader. They only need to do this once when they board

OYSTER CARDS

Oyster card validity:

✓ Valid:

- Green light on the reader and one short beep (or eight quick beeps for Oyster photocards used by under-16s)

The reader will show details of the card on both the driver and passenger displays.

✗ Not valid

- Red light on the reader and two low beeps

Card communication failure

If the card is not touched flat on the yellow target of the card reader, the ticket machine may reject it and display 'Card Communication Failure'. Ask the passenger to try again. If the card keeps being rejected, see below.

Other reasons

The driver and passenger displays will show what is wrong. To find out more, press the 'More' button on your ticket machine. You can press the 'Print' button to print out this information and give it to the passenger to help them sort out the problem. If the passenger still wants to travel they will have to pay a cash fare.

11-18 year olds

11-18 year olds need an Oyster photocard to get free travel and must touch it on the card reader when they board a bus.

Under-11s who look older should use one too.

Hints and Tips:

- An Oyster photocard application form by itself or a receipt is not a valid ticket
- If the card is not valid (red light, reader beeps twice) the holder should pay the full adult cash fare
- Oyster photocards that show 'N' on the front, for example 11-15N, do not allow free travel – holders pay half-rate Oyster fares

OYSTER CARDS

Freedom passes

Freedom passes are Oyster-style cards that allow Londoners who are aged 60 or over, and many disabled people of all ages, to travel free.

Hints and Tips:

- If a freedom pass shows as 'not valid' on the card reader, ask to see the passenger's card. Check it's their photograph on the photocard and check the date on the freedom pass. If all looks OK, and the name on the photocard is the same as the name on the pass, allow the passenger to travel – press the 'Pass' button once – and advise them to get a replacement pass
- Elderly persons' freedom passes are valid from 09:00 Mondays–Fridays and at all times on weekends and public holidays. From 04:30–09:00 the card reader will reject the pass, but you should be flexible and allow the passenger to travel free up to five minutes after 04:30 or before 09:00. NB: this will change to all day validity (same as the disabled pass) from 2 January 2009. Watch for further information in your garage

- Disabled persons' freedom passes are valid anytime
- Blind people without guide dogs usually use freedom passes. They may need help in using the card reader. Do not insist they use the card reader if it is causing them a problem. A blind person with a guide dog does not need to show any pass in order to travel

TICKETS AND PASSES THAT PASSENGERS SHOW THE DRIVER

! Press the [pink] 'Pass' button once to record each passenger.

Bus Passes and Travelcards

Hints and Tips:

There are a number of tickets and passes that passengers can use across the London bus network. You should look for at least one of the following:

- The words "Bus Pass" or "Travelcard"
- The TfL roundel (logo)
- Also check the expiry date. Tickets can be used up to 04:30 the next morning. For example, if it says "15 Jun", you can accept it until 04:30 on 16 June

Note: Not all under-16s use an Oyster photocard. Some may show a Day or 3 Day Travelcard instead.

Tickets from Roadside Ticket Machines (RTMs)

RTMs issue Single Journey tickets and One Day Bus Passes.

Hints and Tips

- Check for a valid time and date on single tickets
- Check for a valid date on One Day Bus Passes
- Passengers must keep their ticket in case a Revenue Protection Inspector (RPI) wants to see it

TICKETS AND PASSES THAT PASSENGERS SHOW THE DRIVER

Saver tickets

Hints and Tips:

- Keep the hexagonal part that says "Staff receipt only" until the end of the trip. The exception to this is when an RPI boards the bus, when you must give the staff receipts to him/her
- If there is a crew change during a trip, or passengers have to be transferred to another bus, give the staff receipts to the new driver
- At the end of the trip, tear the staff receipts in half completely and dispose of them in a bin

Do not discard them inside the bus or on the ground.

School Party Tickets

These are valid after 09:30 and before 16:30 on school days only. One ticket allows travel for a group of up to 10 school children aged 18 or under, with a maximum of two adults.

Hints and Tips

- If there are disruptions on the network, the return journey can start after 16:30
- Each group will only have one ticket, which they keep, but the 'Pass' button should be pressed for every member of the group

Temporary Authority to Travel (TATTs)

RPIs sometimes issue these to passengers after withdrawing a ticket or pass. The RPI will validate it by crossing out the sections that don't apply to the passenger, and will write on an expiry date.

Puppy Walkers

'Puppy Walkers' train Guide Dogs for the Blind. They will not be blind themselves but are allowed to travel free with their puppy as long as they show you their pass. Passes will say 'puppy walker', 'staff' or 'boarder'.

Bearer passes

Bearer passes must be shown with a valid identity card.

Hints and Tips

- Check expiry date
- Check that the ID card has the same name as the pass
- Watch out for similar passes saying "Contractor" instead of "Bearer" – only the "Bearer" passes are valid on buses

TICKETS AND PASSES THAT PASSENGERS SHOW THE DRIVER

Parking/Council Attendant Staff Pass

Free travel with this pass only when the holder is in full uniform.

Police officers

Free travel at all times for the following police forces only:

British Transport, City of London, Essex, Hertfordshire, Kent, Metropolitan, Surrey and Thames Valley.

Police Community Support Officers and Metropolitan Police Traffic Wardens

Free travel at all times (the Police Staff card on the left can be used by itself if the holder is in full uniform)

Please note:

PCSOs have no powers of arrest. When off duty, they only have the same powers as an ordinary passenger.

English National Concessionary Pass scheme

Elderly and disabled people across England can travel free anywhere on London's bus network with the English National Concessionary Pass. These passes are not valid for free travel on trams, Tube, DLR, London Overground and National Rail services.

Each pass includes:

- A red 'Tudor' rose logo
- A red ribbon St George's cross
- A hologram

Elderly and disabled passes are issued as smartcards but these do not work on London bus readers so holders must show their pass.

On TfL bus services, the National pass is valid at the same times as the London freedom pass:

Elderly pass - 09:00-04:30 Mondays to Fridays, anytime Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays (see note on page 88); Disabled pass – any time.

• Drivers should press the [green] 'Other Passes' button once to record each passenger with this kind of travel pass.

• Some TfL bus routes that operate beyond Greater London may offer additional availability and free travel for companions. Drivers on those routes should check fare charts for further information.

TICKETS NOT NORMALLY ACCEPTED ON BUSES:

Tube, Docklands Light Railway (DLR) and rail-only tickets either printed or handwritten, are not normally accepted on the London bus network. You might have to accept these tickets when there is disruption on the Tube, rail or DLR. If this is the case, you will be told by CentreComm over your radio, and given a 'resolution number'. If there is a planned rail closure, a Fares Notice will be posted at your garage to say where tickets should be accepted.

What to do with a resolution number:

- Select 'End Journey' and sign on to the ticket machine again
- As you sign on, 'LUL Resolution?' will come up on the screen. Press the 'up' arrow to select 'Y'
- Type in the number you have been given when the screen says 'LUL No'
- Until the disruption is over, answer 'Y' to 'LUL Resolution?' as you sign on to the ticket machine every trip

PASSENGERS WHO DON'T NEED TO SHOW A TICKET

Children under 11

ⓘ Press the [pink] 'Pass' button once to record each passenger.

Children don't need to show a ticket or photocard if they look under 11.

Blind people with guide dogs

ⓘ Press the [pink] 'Pass' button once to record each passenger.

Blind people with guide dogs don't need to show a ticket or photocard. Blind people without dogs also travel free, but usually have a Oyster-style freedom pass.

Wheelchair users

ⓘ Press the [blue] 'Wheelchair' button once to record each passenger in a wheelchair.

Wheelchair users don't need to show a ticket or photocard. However, companions to wheelchair users don't automatically travel free – they must have a valid ticket or pass.

PASSENGERS WHO BUY A TICKET ON THE BUS

ⓘ Do not press the [pink] 'Pass' button if you sell a passenger a ticket on the bus.

Cash fares:

For anyone paying cash, the fare is £2.

Don't issue a cash fare inside the Pay Before You Board (PBYB) area. Passengers can buy tickets from a Roadside Ticket Machine (RTM). They can see they are in a PBYB area from the yellow panel on bus stops.

UNPAID FARE NOTICES, PASS WITHDRAWAL ENVELOPES AND YOUTH DATA FORMS

You can issue an Unpaid Fares Notice (UFN):

- When a passenger can't buy a ticket and they are potentially vulnerable or in distress
- When a faulty RTM has taken a passenger's money without issuing a ticket
- Outside the Pay Before You Board area, when a passenger wants to pay but you haven't got enough change

Further information is printed on the inside front and back covers of the yellow UFN pad.

How to use UFNs:

- Always fill in the bus route number on the driver section, and the date and time on both staff and passenger sections. This information helps us to identify routes and times that RPIs should be targeting
- If you feel comfortable doing so, ask the passenger for their name, house/flat number and postcode on the form; or ask the passenger to fill in these details. If the situation is already becoming difficult, you do not have to ask for this information

- Tear off the bottom part of the UFN and give it to the passenger. They must send their unpaid fare to the address shown within five days
- Hand in the top part of the UFN at your garage at the end of that day's duty

Pass Withdrawal Envelope (PWE)

When you need to withdraw a damaged or invalid ticket or Oyster card/photocard:

- Always fill in the date and time, the bus route number, and the fare due. On the front of the PWE please also fill in the reason for withdrawal. This information helps us to track the withdrawal
- Tear off the PWE and seal the top part. Hand this in to your garage at the end of that day's duty
- Tear off Customer's Copy and give it to the passenger. They must send any fare due to the address shown within five days

UNPAID FARE NOTICES, PASS WITHDRAWAL ENVELOPES AND YOUTH DATA FORMS

You can fill in a Youth Data Form (YDF):

- When a large group of youths board your bus and do not touch in, or pay a fare, and it is not possible to issue them with standard UFNs, you can use the blue YDFs to record what happened

Further information is printed on the back of each YDF.

How to use YDFs:

- Always fill in the bus route number and the date and time. This information helps us to identify routes and times that RPIs should be targeting
- Hand in any filled in YDFs at your garage at the end of that day's duty

If an RPI gets on your bus, tell them if you have issued any Unpaid Fares Notices, customer copies of Pass Withdrawal Envelopes or filled in any Youth Data Forms on that trip.

USE OF FARESTAGES

Set the correct destination stage at the start of each trip.

You do not have to update farestages during a trip unless your company has asked you to, and as follows:

- If you are turned short of your original destination
- At Pay Before You Board area boundaries
- On routes outside Greater London, where County or District Council passes or special fares apply

Always select the final farestage before you "End Journey".

Paper fare charts provided for each route show the stage numbers to be used on ticket machines, including those to be used when a trip is turned short of its original destination.

ACCEPTABLE COINS AND NOTES

Scottish and Northern Irish Bank notes must be accepted.

Isle of Man, Channel Islands and Gibraltar notes must be accepted but coins from these places are not accepted.

Foreign money – including the Euro – must not be accepted.

Accepting change:

When passengers try to pay with large amounts of small change, drivers must accept coins up to the following amounts:

- Bronze coins (1p and 2p) to the value of 20p
- Silver 5p and 10p to the value of £5
- Silver 20p and 50p to the value of £10
- £1 and £2 coins – NO LIMIT
- £5 ‘commemorative’ coins – NO LIMIT

Above these limits, it is up to you whether you accept more small change as payment of a fare. However, you should not exceed these legal limits when giving change.

Main London Buses routes

These routes make up the main bus network in London.

The companies operating the bus services are indicated in red at the end of each route.

Some routes operate outside Greater London – Pass, Oyster, Travelcard and travel permit availability should be checked against the relevant fare chart.

School services are included, although available to all passengers, these services are primarily intended for pupils travelling to and from school and run on schooldays and at appropriate times only. They are subject to alteration or withdrawal in accordance with school requirements.

Routes that operate a 24 hour service in conjunction with night routes are marked (24). Services that run 24 hours with a night route are also indicated e.g. '24 hour service with N13'.

The list of routes as planned for October 2008 (subject to last minute alterations and changes).
